Feature	A user age 13 or older...	A Restricted User (under age 13)...
Creating an account	• Can create their own account.	• Cannot create an account on their own. The user's parent must create the account, or the user's teacher can do so with parental approval.
Profile	• Can edit their own profile and settings (location, biography, unique username, password, etc.). • Can choose who can see which parts of their profile.	• Cannot edit their own profile and settings. The user's parent controls this information. • Cannot share their profile publicly. Only the user's parent and other coaches (if the parent allows coaches to be added) can see the user's profile.
Discussion forums	• Can participate in discussion forums at the bottom of articles and videos.	• Cannot participate in discussion forums.
Links to third-party sites	• Can see and access links to third-party sites.	• Cannot see or access links to third-party sites.
Email	• Can choose whether to receive email reports and newsletters from Khan Academy.	• Cannot receive any email from Khan Academy.

Feature	A user age 13 or older...	A Restricted User (under age 13)...
Coaching others	• Can coach other users on Khan Academy.	· Cannot coach other users.
Adding coaches for yourself	• Can share their progress information with other Khan Academy users (such as their teacher) by adding them as coaches or accepting coaching requests	• Can add coaches and receive coaching requests only if their parent has enabled this feature.

Computer programming tool	• Can create programs using Khan Academy's computer programming curriculum. Anyone on Khan Academy can view these programs, upvote them, and see who created them.	• Can create programs.
		  o The user's coaches will be able to see the program and who created it.
		  o Others who have a direct link to the program will be able to view the program but won't be able to see who created it.
		  o The program will not appear on any public lists.
		  o No one will be able to upvote the program.